

Published based on First Lady Staying In Villa

First Lady Staying In Villa

Michelle Obama arrived in Malaga yesterday with her youngest daughter which I am sure is actually a well deserved break. when it comes to the plane she flew in on Air Force Two which is actually any plane that is either carrying the vice president or the first lady, worth knowing of course. It is usually a modified 757 and known as the Boeing C-32. Back to the whole point of the article I think.

The first lady is of course staying in one of the best hotels in the world, a 5 star hotel, great stuff. They have actually reserved around 60 of the rooms due to the fact the First Lady is bringing friends as well as the massive security staff that are always needed to be with them at all times. So it is clear that the first lady loves her villas in Spain but I am not too sure that the people that are living in the town are best pleased about the visit as things are pretty tough around the town when it comes to security. so much work has actually taken place in the town and things like roads have been cleaned up a lot. Although this doesn't sound like such a big problem it would seem residents have been asking for this to happen for a long time.

I personally would be honoured to have someone like that visit the small town that I live in and if it caused the council to actually do something it would be great!

The First Lady is not just going to be sitting around doing nothing when she is out in Spain, she is going to be paying a visit to the King and Queen of the country in their lovely villa on the island of Mallorca too!.

So there you have it, if you fancy a villa stay look for those Spanish villa images and choose somewhere!

You can also find this article published on First Lady Staying In Villa, and on the tag pages 5 star hotel, boeing c, Course, michelle obama, villa, yesterday.