Great Wedding Reception Entertainment

When planning your wedding there are lots of things to consider, many of which you won't have thought of before, there are flowers and the venue to arrange as well as catering and making sure everything is where it should be for your special day. With so much to plan for the big day it can be easy to overlook a key part or completely forget about something important, one of the things you don't want to forget is entertainment for the wedding reception, entertainment can be anything from live bands or DJs to clowns or other types of performer. As a bass player in a live Sussex party band I play a lot of weddings throughout the year and have seen many interesting concepts at wedding.

Having played at an enormous variety of events with a London party band with varying budgets that allow from the small and intimate family affair to the more extravagant 400 capacity venues, with so much exposure to many different types of wedding it's interesting to see what works best for different types of people. When I think back to it, I think the functions I have played at where the live band has been accompanied by a DJ have been the best, when you have both together you can have the DJ play in between the band's sets and straight away after and it's perfect to ensure a fantastic vibe is created and the energy levels are kept high and everyone is looking to party well into the small hours and on in to the morning.

Whatever you decide to do for your wedding make sure you get exactly what you want, even if that means splashing out a little more for your preferred live band or DJ, ensure you enjoy yourself completely and don't have any regrets at the end of the day, book an amazing honeymoon holiday and have the time of your life, after all, getting married is supposed to be a once in a lifetime event.
