The Easiest Ways To Obtain A 24HR US Passport

When traveling overseas, it is necessary to carry and present a passport. The traveler is often so worried about arranging the itinerary and packing, the passport is overlooked. When it comes time to finalize all arrangements, travelers realize that they never got a passport. In this situation, getting a 24hr new passport becomes necessary.

The rush service offered by the U.S. government costs $60 in addition to the normal processing charges. Current fees are $75 for adults and $60 for minors, plus a $25 execution charge. Payment is accepted via check, bank draft, money order, credit card, or check/debit card when the documents are presented to a Passport Agency. If the application is being presented to a post office, the applicant should contact the post office to find out what types of payment are accepted.

Individuals who mail in their paperwork must pay with a money order or personal check. To get the passport in the quickest manner, it is recommended that two-way overnight delivery be selected. The application and supporting documentation should be mailed in a package that cannot be tampered with and sent via a delivery method that is traceable.

If the traveler already has a passport that needs to be renewed, or if amendments need to be made, the rush service may also be used. Travelers who need more blank pages added to their passports or those who have a name change will qualify for this rush processing. The appropriate form to include in the package, as well as information regarding additional documentation required, can be found on the government Web site.

The current government processing times for an expedited passport applications, including those that include overnight delivery, is two to three weeks. This takes into account any additional time for the government agency to receive the application and mail the passport to the applicant. Applicants may check the status of their application online in order to see where the processing stands.

Applicants who cannot wait three weeks to receive a passport should look to a private company that provides faster service. These companies require the same paperwork as the government, but they will work with the federal agency to get this information processed in a more expeditious manner. These services can provide a passport to an applicant in as little as one business day when overnight delivery is used.

The cost to get a passport within 24 hours is approximately $300. If the applicant can wait about one week, the cost drops substantially to about $149. Though this may seem like a lot of money to pay, it may be necessary in the case of unplanned travel. These private companies offer additional services, like loss protection, for a small added fee.

An individual who will be traveling to a foreign country can use either the government or a private company to get a 24hr pass port. The government will charge an additional $60 over the regular processing fees but it will take two to three weeks for delivery. Private companies may charge several hundred dollars in order to receive a passport within the next business day.
