The Popularity Of North Yorkshire Hotels

Many people will think of plenty of other places before North Yorkshire hotels when a UK mini break is suggested. Still, the hotels here are so popular that plenty of advance booking is almost always needed. The reasons for this are many.

The first reason is almost definitely the beautiful scenic surroundings that North Yorkshire has to offer. Whether it's for visiting the countryside and enjoying walks in the stunning local countryside, which includes the North Yorkshire Moors, or for enjoying the local cities, there's so much to see and do.

York is within easy travelling distance of most North Yorkshire hotels and can provide everything a city break needs but without the negatives like ridiculous prices or massive crowds. There are many museums as well as quality shops, bars and restaurants. York has a varied and rich Viking and Roman heritage with plenty of museums to show for it. And there's also the pretty river and breathtaking architecture of the Minster to see.

North Yorkshire hotels are very popular with couples, which isn't really any great surprise because of the romantic nature of the area. Indeed many couples actually choose to get married in North Yorkshire hotels, or at least hold their wedding receptions there. The county's quality hotels mean that such events are well catered for. Naturally, dining plays a large role in people's decision to hold events in or visit North Yorkshire hotels. The region has great restaurants, often using local ingredients and offering local specialities, giving the best quality.

Fans of food and drink often enjoy the range of ales available in North Yorkshire hotels and pubs, many of which are produced locally. The region is home to many farms and independent brewers meaning that there is something to eat and drink for absolutely everyone.
