

Published based on Tokyo - Gentle Cherry Blooms And Towering Highrises

Tokyo - Gentle Cherry Blooms And Towering Highrises

The image that comes to mind when people think about Tokyo is that of bright lights, vibrant colors, and lots of sound. Tokyo, a 400-year-old city, holds 35 million people in its greater metropolitan area and is the largest city in the country of Japan. It exhibits such an interesting mix of the traditional Japanese feel with the modern, colorful, and high-tech Japan of the present era, and this makes it a definitely interesting place to visit on vacation. You will have to get a passport before you go, though. All you need to do is fill out a U.S. passport application form.

You can make getting ready for a trip so much easier by applying for your passport online. It's definitely so much simpler to go online, where everything you need is available on one site, and get your passport that way. The biggest perk, however, is the expedited shipping. Usually, it takes 8-12 weeks for a passport to be delivered, but shopping online means getting your passport as quick as you like, even in just a day. There is a whole variety of passport services, such as passport renewal, depending on what you need.

If you are interested in the history of Japan, definitely visit the Edo-Tokyo Museum. The museum houses so much information pertaining to the city's history in a way that makes it exciting to explore. There are incredibly detailed models of an ancient Kabuki theatre, Edo Castle, traditional Japanese shops and residences, and more. The museum itself is a work of art, and walking around inside is an experience in itself.

If you are looking to do some shopping, head to Ginza, a famous shopping district. This is a great place for wandering around and experiencing urban Japan. With no shortage of places to shop and eat, it's easy to spend quite a while wandering around. Shinjuku and Shibuya are great shopping districts as well.

The temples and shrines of Tokyo are well-known for their intricacy and beauty. Sensoji Temple, one of the more famous in Tokyo, was built in honor of the goddess of mercy, Kannon. The building and the grounds surrounding it are beautiful and provide a glimpse into the traditional facet of Tokyo. You can also do a little souvenir shopping nearby at the vendor kiosks. Definitely look for other shrines and temples in the area where you're staying, as they are all stunning works of art.

If you can, plan to travel to Tokyo in the Spring so you can see the blooming of the cherry blossoms. This is a well-known pastime to both residents and visitors to Tokyo, and for good reason. Visit Chidorigafuchi, where walking through the tunnel of cherry blossoms is a surreal experience. You can also take a boat under the blossoms. Tokyo is full of gardens to sit and relax in, with Chinzanso Garden being a favorite. Not only do they provide a nice break from the hustle and bustle of the city, but they are also world-famous for their beauty.

There is a lot to do in Japan, depending on your tastes, and a little research can help you plan the perfect trip. Before you can go on this trip though, you will need to get a passport, and filling out a new passport application form online is the best place to start. With online passport renewal, passport replacement, and more all available on your computer, you can be on your way to Japan in no time.

You can also find this article published on Tokyo - Gentle Cherry Blooms And Towering Highrises, and on the tag pages area, getting your passport, passport application form, Shopping, u s passport application, way.